Looking in from the Pacific through the Golden Gate one finds San Francisco linked North and East with two stupendous bridges; one across the Golden Gate entrance to San Francisco Bay, a $35,000,000.00 structure on which one single span measures 4,200 ft., completing a connecting link with all Northern counties and the famous Redwood Empire. The $77,000,000.00 San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, shown in the distance, joins Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda and other East Bay Cities thus forming a Metropolitan Area unsurpassed for continued Commercial Progress.
